

Authorities for evidence for the submission from SAT to IRG Collection 2015.

This is a description of authorities used for evidence for the submission from SAT to IRG Collection 2015.

Most of the characters are used in the Yīqièjīng yīnyì (一切經音義), a Buddhist dictionary composed during the Tang dynasty. The dictionary preserves rare information on pronunciations, meanings and glyph shapes in use at that time. It was not a mainstream text of the Chinese Buddhist tradition, but interest in it was renewed after its publication as a woodcut printing edition in Korea in the 13th century as a part of (1) Tripitaka Koreana (高麗版大藏經, abbreviated as 高麗藏). After that, in the 17th, a Japanese monk, venerable Ninchō (忍澈上人) came to be aware of the significance of the Tripitaka Koreana and the dictionary, and started to analyze and transcribe the dictionary. The result was published as (2) a woodcut printing edition from the publisher Byakurensa (白蓮社) in Japan. The edition was (3) reprinted in China in the early 20th with some corrections. In the 19th century, (4) the first metal type edition of the Yīqièjīng yīnyì was published in Japan as a part of the Dai nihon kōtei daizōkyō (大日本校訂縮刷大藏經, abbreviated as 縮刷藏) which was the first large scale critical edition in typographical printing. (5) The Taishō Shinshū Daizōkyō, abbreviated as Taishō (大正新脩大藏經) which was published during 1914-1924, included an edited version of the Yīqièjīng yīnyì based on those editions.

Given this situation, the evidences are mostly quoted from (5) Taishō. However, when the shape of the glyphs are not clear in (5) Taishō, the shapes are quoted from other witnesses such as (1) Tripiṭ aka Koreana, (2) the Byakurensa edition, (3) the reprint of the Byakurensa edition (so-called Hingashōsha 頻伽精舎 edition), (4) Shukusetsuzō 縮刷藏, and so on in order to clarify the glyph shape.

In some cases, characters are used in other Buddhist scriptures included in (5) Taishō . Also, in the Yīqièjīng yīnyì 一切經音義, if a character in (5) Taishō is not clear, then its evidence are quoted from other editions such as woodcut printings and manuscripts.
