1. Introduction

This document describes the rules for normalizing the Hanja glyphs that are found in the historical books. There are some Hanja glyphs that can be distinguished from the general Variant form in the historical books. We cannot handle this kind of glyphs by the unification rules because the unification rule mainly deals with the issue of Variant forms in the printed documents, not in the hand-written documents. Hand-written Hanja characters are sometimes represented in a cursive form, sometimes in a semi-cursive form and so on.

Therefore, we need to normalize these hand-written glyphs into a regular or standard form. The aim of this document is to list Korean normalization rules which are used for Hanja characters proposed by KR national body to IRG.

1.1. Scope of this document

The aim of this document is to list various glyphs that can be found in documents using movable types (metal, wood, ceramic), woodblocks, or manuscript which can be normalized to one character.

Although various glyphs are normalized to a character, the pronunciation and the meaning do not change and, therefore, each Variant glyph does not need a separate character code point.

However, if we should find a new glyph that looks like very similar to a Variant glyph of some other character, but which has a different meaning, that glyph should not be normalized to that character. Instead, we need to consider normalizing to some other character or assigning a new character code point.

1.2. Scope of Normalization

We can apply the normalization rule when at least one of the following conditions is met.

- a. when we meet a glyph whose component is slightly different by shape but should be considered as the same component.
- b. when we need to normalize the cursive or semi-cursive form (glyph) found in woodblocks or manuscript.
- c. there seems an error (there can be various types of errors) in the glyph considering the context of the full text.

1.3. Cases of Normalizations

a. Cases of Normalizations in cursive scripts

① 麗 (a normalized glyph)

i  → 麗

ii  → (麗) → 麗

iii  → 麗 → (麗)

- In case of ①-i and ①-ii, mostly the glyphs are normalized to “麗”.
- In special cases (personal names, place names, book titles, etc.), sometimes writers deliberately use a certain Variant form “麗”, not the normalized form “麗”. In such cases (①-iii), the glyph could be normalized to “麗”.

② 定 (a normalized glyph)

i  → 定 → 定

ii  → 定 → 定

iii  → 定 → 定

- In case of ②-i, ②-ii, and ②-iii, since they do not fall in special cases, they are not normalized to “定”, but normalized to “定”.

b. Cases of Normalizations in customary written form

① 忸  → 慚 慄

② 日  → 時

The left components (忸 and 日) in glyphs to the left of an arrow (→) in a written form were widely used in Korea customarily. Therefore, those glyphs can be normalized to the characters to the right of an arrow (→).

2. Source reference (please refer to the IRGN2083c(KR's supplementary evidences))

The source references used in this document are originated from the IRG document N2083c.

- source reference book
- A: 『韓國文集叢刊』本輯
- B: 『韓國文集叢刊』續輯
- C: 『安東金氏族譜』
- D: 『古今釋林』

E: 『西征日記』
F: 『雲水檀歌詞』
G: 『湖南邑誌』
H: 『高麗史』

- the source reference consists of 5 componets.
 - > book number (e.g.: 92 means 92輯)
 - > page number (e.g.: 15 means 15 page)
 - > the position within a page
 - a: upper right
 - b: upper left
 - c: lower right
 - d: lower left
 - > a vertical line number
 - > publication date
 - 甲: 17C
 - 乙: 18C
 - 丙: 19C
 - 丁: 20C

As an example, consider "步 [B078;316d;6(丙)]"

[B078;316d;6(丙)] can be understood as: 『韓國文集叢刊』續輯, 78輯 (book 78), page 316, lower left, in vertical line 6, published at 19C.
