1 Introduction

This document introduces a writing system developed by Lakhum Mossang for writing the Tangsa languages spoken in Arunachal Pradesh, India. It is a newly-constructed alphabetic script and is genetically unrelated to existing scripts. Mossang's script consists of 83 characters: 70 letters, 3 combining marks, and 10 digits. The phonetic value of the letters and combining marks is unknown to the proposal author at present; however, research on the script is about to commence and these details should be available soon.

Enclosed are a draft code chart and names list, and specimens of the script as produced by its creator. Characters are tentatively named according to the serial numbers given in the specimens and are ordered along the same basis. Additional information will be provided as it is obtained.

The code chart, names list, and all information presented here are subject to change. They are provided only for informational purposes and are not intended for actual usage.

Specimens of Mossang's script were provided by Stephen Morey (Research Centre for Linguistic Typology, La Trobe University, Melbourne, Australia).
